A website your business can publish today, with your forms and chat already on it.

already on it, published on your own domain.

What Sites takes off your desk

A website is always next month

An agency quote, a builder nobody finds time for, and a blank page that never gets written.

The site never brings an enquiry

A brochure page with an email address at the bottom. Visitors read it, then leave without a trace.

Every change waits on somebody

Updating the fees or the dates means a developer, so the site is always a little out of date.

None of this is a people problem.

Your team is not slow or careless. It is working without a system that does this job. OmexaOS Sites is that system.

Four steps, start to finish

Built for the way the work actually happens

01

A first draft, not a blank page

Tell it what you do and where. It writes the pages, using only what you said, and never invents a price, an award or a review. Change any of it in plain language, or skip the AI and start from a simple template.

02

Your forms and chat are already on it

Pick one of your Leads forms and it appears on the page, so every enquiry lands in your lead board. Your Agents chat loads on the site too, with nothing to paste.

03

See it before anyone else does

A live preview sits beside the editor and updates as you type. Nothing goes public until you publish, and the last ten published versions are kept so you can go back.

04

Your own domain, handled for you

Point your domain at us with two records and we check them, then serve your site over HTTPS. Until then it answers on its own address at omexa.site.

What it does, and what it is worth

A website written for your business, with your forms and chat already on it, published on your own domain.

AI-drafted pages

Tell it what you do, and it writes the first draft.

Describe your business and it writes the pages, using only what you said, then you change any of it in plain language or start from a template instead.

- A working draft from a short description of your business
- Never invents a price, an award or a review
- Change any page by describing what you want changed
- Skip the AI and start from a template if you would rather

WHAT IT IS WORTH

You have a working website this afternoon, not after an agency brief, and every word on it is something you said.

Live preview and history

See it before anyone else does, and never lose a version.

A live preview sits beside the editor and updates as you type. Nothing goes public until you publish, and the last ten published versions are kept so you can go back.

- Live preview, updated as you type
- Nothing changes on the public site until you publish
- The last ten published versions are kept
- Go back to an earlier version in one click

WHAT IT IS WORTH

Changes are safe to make because nothing goes live by accident, and a mistake is one click from undone.

Forms and chat, already on it

Nothing to embed, because it is already there.

Pick one of your Leads forms and it appears on the page, so every enquiry lands in your lead board. Your Agents chat loads on the site too, with nothing to paste.

- Add a Leads form to any page from a list, not a snippet
- Your Agents chat widget loads on the site automatically
- Every enquiry lands straight in your lead pipeline
- One workspace, so nothing needs a second sign-in

WHAT IT IS WORTH

The website stops being a brochure: every visitor can ask a question or enquire, and it all lands in one place.

Your own domain

Live at your own address, handled for you.

Point your domain at us with two records and we check them, then serve your site over HTTPS. Until then it answers on its own address at omexa.site.

- A working address at omexa.site from the moment you publish
- Point your own domain with two DNS records
- HTTPS handled for you once the domain is checked
- Nothing goes offline while a domain is being set up

WHAT IT IS WORTH

Your business answers at its own address, over HTTPS, without anyone learning what a DNS record is.
